Pictures Of Washington Theatre Disaster

This photograph was made just after daylight following the collapse of the Knickerbocker Theatre, Washington, D. C., in which scores lost their lives and several hundred were injured. Soldiers are shown clearing away the wreckage, with the stage in the background. Soldiers on the right are carrying out the dead on stretchers. In the immediate foreground is a portion of the snow-laden roof which crashed without warning upon the audience. This roof gave way under the heaviest snowstorm the capital has experienced in years.

Soldiers and civilians who have just come upon two of the hundreds who were caught when the roof of the Knickerbocker Theatre collapsed under its burden of snow. One of these victims was dead the other seriously injured.

Searching the wreckage of the Knickerbocker theatre, Washington, for dead and injured after the roof of the fashionable motion picture house collapsed, killing 97 and injuring more than 100. Firemen, soldiers and citizen volunteers are shown at work. Note the massive steel girder which supported the roof and the great blocks of concrete that fell when the roof gave way under the weight of snow. At the left one of the broken girders can be seen.

PROBES START IN DISASTER

WASHINGTON, N. C., January 31. (By the Associated Press)—Ninety-seven persons, according to a final and official list issued today by the District of Columbia authorities, lost their lives in the collapse Saturday night, under a burden of snow, of the Knickerbocker theatre roof. Any additions to the list, it was said, would result from the final termination of injuries sustained by other victims. WASHINGTON, D. C., January 31. (By the Associated Press)—While the city began the burial of its dead today, District of Columbia authorities pushed their investigation of the Knickerbocker theatre disaster and the senate was expected to take action on the resolution of Senator Capper, Republican, of Kansas, proposing an independent inquiry by that body. A resolution for the same purpose also was pending in the house, although Representative Mondell, Republican, had announced that he would not authorize an inquiry pending the outcome of those by local authorities. Death Toll Reaches 97. A re-check of the death list by the police today showed that the final total, outside of the expected deaths of injured, of which there are now three, probably would be reduced to 97 from the total of 105 carried yesterday. Of the total of 133 injured. (Continued on Page 14)

EARTH SHOCKS FELT ON PACIFIC COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, January 31. (By the Associated Press)—Earthquake shocks were felt early today along the Pacific coast from San Francisco to the Canadian line, according to reports reaching here. No damage was reported.

BERKELEY, CAL., January 31. (By the Associated Press)—A vibration of 1 1/2 millimetres in the earth was indicated by the earthquake recording machines at the University of California today, today, the center of the disturbance probably being six hundred miles northward and on the floor of the ocean.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., January 31. (By the Associated Press)—The earthquake recorded in all parts of the United States today probably occurred under the Pacific ocean off the coast of Washington or Oregon. It was said, after thorough reckoning at Harvard University today.

On West Coast Of South America WASHINGTON, D. C., January 31. (By the Associated Press)—Geologists in New York seeking to locate the earthquake which today startled seismographs in various parts of the United States, estimated that the shock originated along the west coast of South America, somewhere between the Panama canal zone and Ecuador.

Dr. W. J. Humphreys, the weather bureau's earthquake specialist, reported at 11 o'clock that the tremors still were continuing, but had greatly diminished in intensity.

Tremors Increase WASHINGTON, D. C., January 31. (By the Associated Press)—An earthquake of greatest intensity probably 2,500 to 3,000 miles south of Washington, was registered early today at the Georgetown seismographical observatory. The quake began at about 8:25 a. m. and ten minutes later the tremors had become so pronounced as to throw the registering needles off the scale. The quake also was registered on the seismographs of the weather bureau, officials of which described it as "monstrous". The Rev. Francis Tondorf, director of the Georgetown seismographical observatory, and one of the foremost earthquake authorities of the world, said the quake was "enormous". Both machines were still registering the quake at 10 o'clock.

University of Chicago Reports 14 CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—An unusually severe earthquake was recorded on the seismograph at the University of Chicago this morning. The first was recorded at 7:23 a. m., and it was followed by another at 7:32 a. m. The distance was approximately 1,570 miles from Chicago.

Shows Quake Violent CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Jan. 31.—(By the Associated Press)—An earthquake shock so violent that it put the recording apparatus at the Harvard university seismograph station m. and at 8:40 became so violent temporarily out of commission, occurred today. Its scene was computed roughly at 2,778 miles from here by Professor J. B. Woodworth, in what direction he was unable to say. The vibrations began at 8:24 a. m. and at 8:40 became so violent, Professor Woodworth said, that the needles were thrown off the drum on which the vibrations are recorded.

Upheaval of Huge Proportions CLEVELAND, O., January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—An upheaval of gigantic proportions, apparently in the volcanic district of upper South America or possibly in lower Mexico, was registered on the seismograph at St. Ignace College today, according to Rev. P. L. Olenbach, in charge of the college observatory for the past fifteen years, who stated the quake or upheaval as registered on his instruments surpassed in extent and violence anything he has previously experienced. Father Olenbach places the location of the disturbance at a distance of three thousand miles from Cleveland.

Worst In Fifteen Years DENVER, COLO., January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—The seismograph at Regis College here today registered the most severe earthquake recorded in the last fifteen years, according to Father Forestall. The disturbance was estimated by Father Forestall to be approximately 1,500 miles south of Denver.

PATROLMEN IN A GUN BATTLE WITH A NEGRO

BOSTON, January 31.—Sixty patrolmen, armed with riot guns, battled more than an hour early today against Henry Murray, a negro, who barricaded in his home in the south end, shot and seriously wounded two patrolmen, a negro and a white, and set fire to a bed in which an infant lay. Murray surrendered uninjured when a dozen officers broke down the door of the house.

Shouts of "lynch him" were made by the crowd that fought to get at him. He was roughly handled before the officers put him in a patrol wagon. The trouble began when Murray ejected Mrs. William Jackson, a negro, a tenant, and fired several shots at her. Patrolmen Dalton and McShane attempted to enter the house and McShane was shot in the stomach. Another bullet wounded Dalton in the cheek. A riot call was sounded and policemen armed with riot guns, were sent to the scene. The house was surrounded and bullets were sprayed against it while Murray fired shots into the street.

On the top floor, Mrs. Jackson's husband was held in fear of Murray, holding his baby in his arms. Murray shot him twice. The child

Six Killed In Mine Explosion

PINEVILLE, KY., January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—The death toll of the explosion last night in the Laymon-Calloway Company mine at Laymon, near here, today reached six when the bodies of the two entombed men, John Martin and his son, James Martin, were found by rescuers. Two others injured in the explosion are in a serious condition in a hospital here.

Other dead are Ben Raper, Hulm, Ky.; Earl Hampton and A. G. Buswell, Straight Creek, Ky.; and Willie May, Four Mouth, Ky. George Hampton, father of Earl Hampton, and Joe Dell, Four Mouth, are injured. The names of the missing could not be obtained.

Pending an investigation, officials would not express an opinion as to whether gas or powder caused the accident.

fell on a bed and Murray set fire to it, Jackson said. The infant was removed to a hospital, suffering from burns.

Occupants of houses peered from their windows until shots drove them to cover. Mrs. Julia Scott was struck in the hand by one bullet. As the battle proceeded, firemen were called and lines of hose were laid to flood Murray out. Patrolmen Edward J. Wynne, having the negro's fire, smashed a window so that the hose could be brought into play. Meanwhile, Police Sergeant Ryan and twelve officers barged down the entrance and the negro surrendered.

SHANTUNG AGREEMENT PLEASES THE PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Much gratification that the Shantung controversy had been settled was expressed today at the White House, where officials said President Harding felt that the agreement reached May, Four Mouth, Ky. George Hampton, father of Earl Hampton, and Joe Dell, Four Mouth, are injured. The names of the missing could not be obtained.

The White House comment was the first official expression confirming formally that the Japanese and Chinese had reached a complete accord, although it had been generally indicated that they were virtually in agreement.

Administration officials would not comment upon the stand President Harding himself had taken in the final stages of the negotiations, saying merely that the president was much gratified and felt that the country in general and every one connected with the Washington conference would be equally glad to learn that the long standing controversy had been settled.

Declines To Come To America BERLIN.—Dr. Andreas Hermes, minister of food, has declined the appointment as German ambassador to the United States.

469,639,000 Barrels Of Petroleum

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(By Associated Press).—Production of petroleum in the United States in 1921, as indicated by reports from producing companies to the United States geological survey, amounted to 469,639,000 barrels. This total may be increased somewhat, the survey said today, by reports on the quantity consumed on the leases for fuel. Stock of crude oil increased 60,592,000 barrels during the year, the report said.

California and Oklahoma produced a record output of approximately 114,000,000 barrels each last year and Texas more than 100,000,000 barrels. Texas took first rank among producing states in December, 1921, largely as a result of developments at Mexia.

Birds Refuse To Leave The Premises

DUBUQUE, IOWA, Jan. 31.—(By Associated Press).—The feathered friends of J. A. Rhomburg hovered today as usual about the home of the 85-year-old settler of Specht's Ferry, unaware that the patron who had provided their winter rations for more than 30 years lay dead within. When game protection officers forced Rhomburg last summer to open up rooms and cages in which scores of song birds were sheltered, they failed to break the ties between the old settler and his pets. Opened windows still gave the flocks access to winter time shelter and with dogs, cats, ducks, pigeons, chickens, hogs and cows, they shared the products of the farm. Cardinals, wrens, homing pigeons and chickadees today refused to leave the premises.

SENATOR KENYON NEW FEDERAL JUDGE

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, announced today he would accept the nomination as federal judge for the eighth circuit tendered to him by President Harding and sent to the senate.

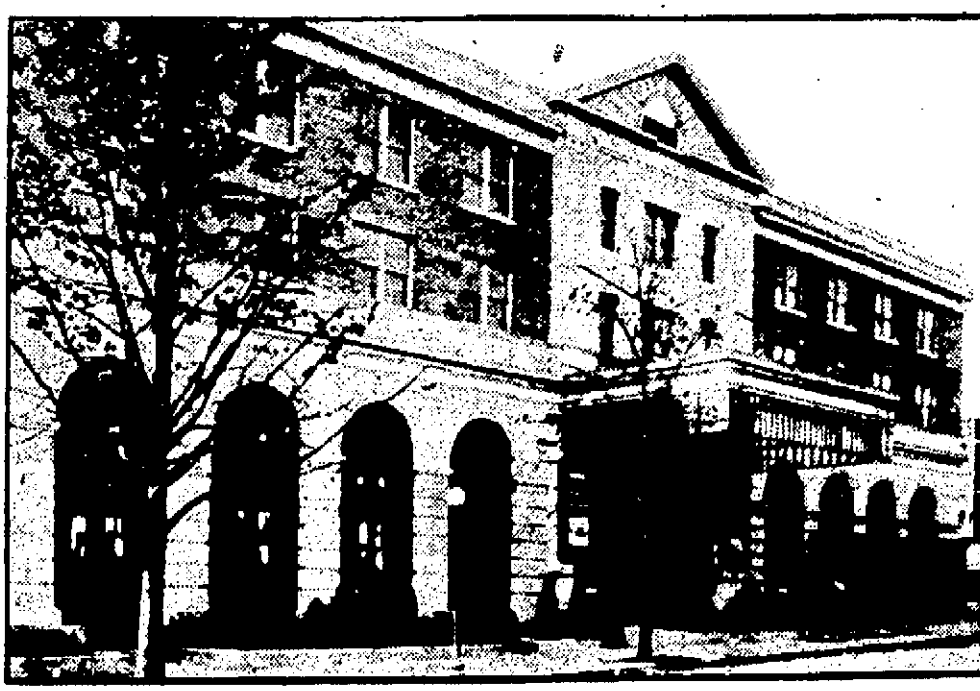

The senate, soon after receiving the nomination confirmed it in open executive session, an honor only rarely paid to nominees. The Iowa senator, who is one of the leaders of the senate and chairman of the agricultural bloc of that body, in a formal statement issued upon receipt of his nomination by the senate expressed appreciation of the president's action which he said would enable him to achieve his ambition "to serve on the federal bench."

The motion to confirm the Iowa senator was made by his colleague, Senator Cummins, and was seconded by Curtis, of Kansas, presiding at the time, called for the vote on "advising and consenting" to the nomination of every senator in the chamber stood. Senator Kenyon after the confirmation said that he would be unable to leave Washington to take up his new (Continued on Page 14)

Oles Says He Talked Too Much

YOUNGSTOWN, Jan. 31.—(By Associated Press).—Cast iron pipe used in a new municipal hospital here must be removed at once and brass pipe substituted as provided in the specifications, Mayor George L. Oles announced today after a meeting with the hospital commissioner. The substitution was found when plastering was torn away after charges made by union workmen were investigated under Oles' supervision. The city hall policy of "censoring" Oles' statements went into effect today with Safety Director Hamilton as the official mouthpiece. Hamilton announced that hereafter he is going to do the talking, with the mayor's consent. Oles admitted that he had been "talking too much."

Prominent Artist Dies

STAMFORD, CONN., January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Solon H. Borglum, an artist of nationwide renown and head of a school of sculpture here, is dead. After an operation for appendicitis was performed on Saturday, it was believed Mr. Borglum would recover, but his powers of resistance were lowered by the effects of being gassed while in France during the war, and the end came last night.

He was born on December 22, 1868, in Ogden, Utah, and was a brother of Gutzon Borglum, himself a noted sculptor. His five colossal busts of civil war generals which are in the Vicksburg national park, and his statue "The Pioneer" exhibited at the San Francisco exhibition in 1915, were among his best known works.

Posse Hunts For Brute

CLEVELAND, O., January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Dawn today found a posse of angry parents and police searching the vicinity of E. 20th street and Perkins avenue for a thug who late last night beat twenty-two year old Amy Burke over the head.

Neighbors, roused by her screams, found her lying half-conscious on the sidewalk and took her into a nearby home to dress her wounds.

Others took after the girl's assailant, who ran through an alley way after the attack.

Robbery is believed to have been the motive.

WITH LATEST NUMBER OF PATHE NEWS

Council at an adjourned session last night discussed at some length plans and reports of the recent sanitary sewer survey of the city made by Pearce, Greeley and Hanson, Chicago sanitary engineers, but adjourned without taking any definite action towards approving the layout which was referred to the Board of Control for consideration and for recommendation at the next meeting.

S. A. Greeley, of the firm of engineers who made the survey, took up in detail and explained the projects for sewer improvements embraced in the comprehensive and complete maps and reports prepared. The engineer made a statement of conditions as he found them here and made recommendations of what is needed to remedy the conditions.

As a result of their work the engineer offered for the consideration of council, these projects: A relief sewer for upper Mill street; a new outfall structure and valve into the Ohio River is proposed at the foot of Jefferson street to relieve the present Third street sewer; a relief sewer is proposed on Kinney's Lane and a relief sewer on Nineteenth street and new sanitary sewers for the district adjacent to East Jackson street; a combined sewer is needed in Scioto Trail, north of Twentieth street and Lawson Run should be enclosed with a large sewer from Seventeenth street north. From Seventeenth street south there should be a sanitary interception sewer with a capacity of 700 gallons per capita for the estimated future population, the report says, and a new sanitary sewer is proposed for the Mabert Road district.

For Sciotoville a complete system of separate sanitary sewers has been provided with a completed sewage treatment plant for settling and discharging the sewage before its discharge into the Ohio River.

A summary of the estimate cost of these various projects amounts in all to a little less than $300,000 and the engineers strongly recommend that council undertake as soon as possible the construction work, pointing out that it need not all be undertaken at once as the various projects are developed individually by the plans in order that they may be taken up separately or collectively in any plan of progressive development decided upon.

The engineer stated that Lawson Run should be considered first as this is a real sanitary problem which needs early solution. He declared that a clean up is surely needed there. The estimated cost to make this improvement is $95,000 and that at Sciotoville is $83,000.

The proposition of the installation of sewers at Sciotoville and the menace of pollution of the river water so close to the city water works intake pipe was discussed. It was pointed out that which sewers are installed there in proportion to the water service there will be a necessity of the treatment of the sewerage.

P. H. Warring, sanitary engineer of the State Board of Health, was present and complimented council in taking a step in the right direction towards a solution of the sanitary problem here. He stated that the state board six years ago approved the last sewer construction plans for Portsmouth because there was too much piece meal sewer construction here. He formally gave his approval of the plans and reports submitted by the Chicago engineers and declared they had mapped out the avenue to follow and gave it as his opinion that the entire layout of construction was program No. 1.

He said that there was a real need to do something and urged action, claiming that contract plans for construction was the logical plan of development. He said that the elimination of the Lawson Run nuisance should come first.

Before adjournment was taken legislation was ordered to authorize a $50,000 issue of water works extension bonds for the purpose of providing and installing fire hydrants in the city and in Sciotoville.

Lands Good Job

Friends have received post cards from Robert Underwood, formerly a local boy now in Los Angeles, Calif., stating that he has landed a good job there and expects to make that place his home. He left Portsmouth several years ago and for sometime was yeoman on the U. S. S. Tennessee. Later he went to Los Angeles, where he landed a position as bookkeeper with a rubber roofing concern. Underwood writes that the weather is colder than usual and that he recently took part in a big ball for sailors held at the city's leading hotel.

"Fight those film-coats on your teeth"

Leading dentists, nearly all the world over, now urge a new method of teeth cleaning. Millions of people already employ it. You see the results everywhere today, in whiter, cleaner teeth.

This is for those who don't know it as yet. We offer a ten-day test. You will then see the unique results and decide what they mean to you.

The war on film

One great object is to fight the film on teeth. You can feel it now—a viscous film. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. And it forms the basis for dingy, dangerous coats.

Ordinary tooth pastes do not effectively combat it. So millions of teeth brushed daily still discolor and decay.

Film absorbs stains, making white teeth cloudy. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Film constantly breeds germs. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Thus most tooth troubles are now traced to film.

How to fight it daily

Dental science has now found two effective film combatants. Able authorities have proved them by many careful tests.

A new tooth paste has been perfected, to comply with five modern requirements. The name is Pepsodent. These two great film combatants are embodied in it.

Careful people of some forty races now employ it daily, largely by dental advice. You will also do so when you know how much it does.

Brings other effects

Pepsodent brings two other effects which authorities now desire.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch

FARMER CHAMPIONS INVITED TO MEETING

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30—James B. Appel, Charles Appel and Henry T. Bannion, all of Scioto County, are three of the 10 Ohio farmers who have been asked by the Ohio State University to attend Farmers' Week meeting of the Ohio Hundred Bushel Corn Club, Columbus, Feb. 2, in special recognition of consistent work in such contests.

James Appel's average of air-dried shelled corn is set by the University authorities at 98 bushels, raised on twenty acres over a period of two years. Charles Appel's average is set at 98 bushels and was also raised on twenty acres over a period of two years, while Mr. Bannion's average was 94 bushels raised on the same acreage and in the same period of time as the other two.

Nine of the 10 farmers in this special class raised as much as 100 bushels of shelled corn to the acre in last summer's state-wide contest, and they will therefore not be among those eight who are to be given gold medals and inducted into the "Hundred Bushel Club" this year. Rather Messrs. Appel and Bannion have been asked to come to Columbus to receive honorary mention for having raised under contest rules an average of 90 or more bushels to the acre during two or more years of the contest.

Vesper Services Enjoyed By Large Audience

An enthusiastic and highly pleased audience listened to the musical program at the Second Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon. A miscellaneous program was given in which there was featured vocal, violin, piano and organ numbers, with various combinations and effects.

Following the anthem by the choir which was the first number on the program, Mrs. Russell Becker played an excellent violin solo entitled "Adoration." Mrs. Becker is an accomplished violinist and handles her instrument in the positive and graceful fashion of a professional. An extremely artistic number was the combination of organ and piano music as a part of the Opera "Martha" was played. Miss Louise Jones at the piano, who is a high school student, exhibited unusual skill in the playing of her instrument.

A solo by Mr. Foster Krake cannot be too highly estimated for the rendition of his number was of the very finest type. He is the possessor of a very musical voice over which he has absolute control. "O Little Town of Bethlehem," sung by Miss Margaret Stahler and Harry Denton, was full of simple and gripping melody and was enjoyed by every one.

Perhaps the number which appealed to the ears of those who appreciate the unusual the most, was a soprano solo by Mrs. F. B. Winter as she was accompanied by the piano, violin and organ. Mrs. Winter sings in a finished style and interprets her thought as well as her music. "O Dry Those Tears" offers plenty of opportunity for the one who can do this effectively and with the assistance of Mrs. S. B. Timmonds at the piano and Mrs. Russell Becker playing the violin, the number was greatly enhanced in color and artistry.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Dave Sanders, youthful, range rider with the D Bar Lazy R outfit, is fooled into matching the speed of his pet pony, Chiquito, against that of a race horse owned by Ad Miller, a gambler. Miller and his confederate, George Doble, the latter a half-brother of Doug Doble, the ranch foreman, win heavily from the cowboys when Chiquito is beaten. After the race, George Doble picks a quarrel with Bob Hart, Dave's pal. Dave interferes and is attacked by Miller. Doug Doble separates them.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

"What's eatin' you, Sanders?" he demanded curtly. "He ripped me with his spurs," Miller said sullenly. "That's how come I had to turn loose." Dave looked down at the man's legs. His trousers were torn to shreds. Blood trickled down the innerated calves where the spurs had roveled the flesh cruelly. No wonder Miller had suddenly lost interest in the fight.

CHAPTER IV

THE next morning Dave roped his mount and rode out to meet Chiquito. The pinto was aristocrat in his way. He preferred to choose his company, was a little disdainful of the cowboys that had no accomplishments. Usually he grazed a short distance from the remuda, together with Bob Hart's string.

Dave's whistle brought no nicker of joy, no thud of hoofs galloping out of the darkness to him. No answer came to his calls. At a canter he cut across the plain to Bob Hart. "Found 'em?" shouted Dave when he was close enough to be heard. "No, and we won't—hot this side of Malapi. Those cowboys didn't make camp last night. They kept movin'." If you ask me, they're movin' yet, and they've got our broncs with 'em."

This had already occurred to Dave as a possibility. "Any proof?" he asked quietly.

"A-plenty. Three-four times we cut trail of five horses. Two of the five are beln' ridden. My Four-Bits hoss has got a broken hoof. So has one of the five."

"Morin' fast, are they?" "You're dam' whistlin'. They're hivin' off for parts unknown. Malapi first off, looks like. They got friends here."

"Steelman and his outfit will protect them while they hunt cover and make a getaway."

"He was probably lyin'. You can't tell. Point is, we've got to get busy. My notion is we'd better make a bee-line for Malapi right away," proposed Bob.

"We'll travel all night. No use wastin' any more time."

Within an hour they were on the road. In the late afternoon they rode back to the trail through a draw, the ponies wading fetlock deep in yellow, red, blue and purple flowers. The mountains across the valley looked in the dry heat as though made of papier-mache.

CHAPTER V

THE two D Bar Lazy R paunchers ate supper at Delmonico's. The restaurant was owned by Wong Chung, a Cantonese celestial did the cooking and another waited on table. The price of a meal was twenty-five cents, regardless of what one ordered.

Dave helped himself to bread from a plate stacked high with thick slices. He buttered it and began to eat. Hart did the same. Just about to attack a second slice, Dave stopped to stare at his companion. Hart was looking past his shoulder with alert intentness. Dave turned his head. Two men, leaving the restaurant, were playing the casbah.

The men were George Doble and a cowpuncher known as Shorty, a broad, heavy-set little man who worked for Bradley Steelman, owner of the Rocking Horse ranch.

They paid their bill and passed into the street. Immediately the sound of a clear, high voice arrested their attention. It vibrated indignation and dread.

"What have you done with my father?" came sharply to them on the wings of the soft night wind.

A young woman was speaking. She was in a buggy and was talking to two men on the sidewalk—the two men who had preceded the range-riders out of the restaurant.

"Why, Miss, we ain't done a thing to him—nothin' a-tall." The man Shorty was speaking, and in a tone of honest reconciliation.

"That's lie." The voice of the girl broke for an instant to sob. "Do you think I don't know you're Brad Steelman's handy man, that you do his meaness for him when he snaps his fingers?"

"Is yore paw missin'? I'm right sorry to hear that," the cowpuncher consoled with suave irony. His glance followed Doble, who was moving slowly down the street.

The girl's face, white and shining in the moonlight, leaned out of the buggy toward the retreating vagabond. "Don't you dare hurt my father! Don't you dare!" she warned. The words choked in her tense throat.

Shorty continued to back away. "You're excited, Miss. You'll be sorry you talked this away to me," he said with mienous virtue. Then he turned and went straddling down the walk.

Quickly Dave gave directions to his friend. "Duck back into the restaurant, Bob. Get a pocketful of dry rice from the Chink. Trail those birds to their nest and find where they roost. Scatter rice behind you, and ill drift along later. First off, I got to stuy and talk with Miss Joyce."

A moment later Hart was in the restaurant commandeering rice and Sanders was lifting his dusty hat to the young woman in the buggy.

"If I can help you any, Miss Joyce," he said.

Beneath dark and delicate brows she frowned at him. "Who are you?"

"Dave Sanders my name is. I reckon you never heard tell of me. I punch cows for yore father."

Her luminous, hazel-brown eyes steadied in his, read the honesty of his simple, boyish heart.

"You heard what I said to that man?"

"Part of it."

"Well, it's true. I know it is, but I can't prove it."

"How do you know it?"

"Steelman's men have been watching our house. This man Shorty was one."

"Any special reason for the feud to break out right now?"

"Father was goin' to prove up on a claim this week—the one that takes in the Fullarsa water-hole. Don't you think maybe they're trying to keep him from proving up?"

"Maybe so. When did you see him last?"

Her lip trembled. "Night before last. After supper he started for the Cattleman's club, but he never got there."

"Looks like some of Brad Steelman's smooth work," admitted Dave.

"DON'T YOU DARE HURT MY FATHER," SHE WARNED. "DON'T YOU DARE."

"If he could work yore father to sign a relinquishment—"

Fire flickered in her eye. "He'd ought to know Dad better."

"What's more, it wouldn't be their play to injure him, but to force a relinquishment," continued Dave.

"That's true. You believe that, don't you?" Joyce cried eagerly.

"That man who jus' passed is my friend," he told her. "He's trailin' that duck Shorty. Like as not we'll find out what's stirrin'."

"I'll go with you," the girl said, vivid lips parted in anticipation.

"No, you go home. Soon as I find out anything I'll let you know."

"You'll come, no matter what time o' night it is," she pleaded.

"Yes," he promised.

CHAPTER VI

THE trail of rice led down Mission street, turned at Junipero, crossed into an alley, and trickled along a dusty road to the outskirts of the frontier town.

Doble and Miller were small fish in the swirl of this more desperate venture. Dave knew Brad Steelman by sight and reputation. The man's coffee-brown, hatchet face, the slope of nose and chin, combined to give him the look of a predacious wolf. Suspected of many crimes, he had been proved guilty of none.

A soft, low whistle stayed Dave's feet. From behind a bush Bob rose and beckoned.

"The 'dobe house over to the right," said Bob. "Heen up and tried to look in, but they got curtains drawn."

They made a wide circuit and approached the house from the rear. Dave crept forward and tried the door. It was locked. The window was latched and the blind lowered.

"How about the roof?" asked Hart. Dave's eyes lit.

"What's the matter with takin' a whiff at it?" his partner continued. "You're tophand with a rope."

"Suits me fine."

The rope snaked forward and up, scatted gracefully over the chimney. Dave slipped off his high-heeled boot and went up hand over hand. In another moment he was huddled against the chimney waiting for his companion.

As soon as Hart joined him he pulled up the rope and wound it round the chimney.

Dave moved down the roof to the nearest dormer.

It was a crescent window, and at the touch of the hand it gave way. The heart of the cowpuncher beat fast with excitement. In the shadowy darkness of that room death might be lurking, its hand already outstretched toward him. He peered in, accustomed his eyes to the blackness. A pricking of the skin ran over him. For he knew that, though he could not yet make out the objects inside the room, his face must be like a framed portrait to anybody there.

Dave eased himself over the sill and waited for a moment while he fastened the revolver in his hand. It seemed to him that he could hear a faint murmur of voices, but he was not sure. He moved across the bare plank floor, slid through the door and again stopped to take stock of his surroundings.

SOCIETY

The Woman's City Club met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Pearl E. Selby, on Gallia street, with a large attendance present. The meeting opened promptly at half after two o'clock with the president, Mrs. William H. Schwartz, presiding. Mrs. Edgar Appel read the secretary's report of the last meeting and also the treasurer's report. Mrs. Albert Schmidt, publicity chairman, reported that she was in communication with the state and county officials in regard to the planting of some trees, and would have a definite announcement to make at a meeting of the executive committee which will be held shortly.

Plans were discussed for beautifying the city during the coming spring and summer, and the planting of flowers and shrubbery in the various school yards of the city. Mrs. Isabella Thomas, chairman of the Educational committee, asked permission to get in touch with Miss Jane Adams, of Hull House, Chicago, who is to speak at Wise Center, near Cincinnati Sunday, February 5th, and see if her itinerary would permit a stopover in Portsmouth. It was the unanimous decision of the club that Mrs. Thomas get in telephonic communication with Miss Adams and see if she could be prevailed upon to pay a short visit to Portsmouth en route to or from Cincinnati.

A central committee will also be appointed by the president for the purpose of working up interest and taking action in the flower question.

One of the interesting features of yesterday's meeting was the short but effective talk by John F. Dudley, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., on "The Outlook of Welfare Work Here and Elsewhere." In the course of his remarks, Mr. Dudley stated that for the past several years as well as at the present time, the word "economy" was the watchword of the day, and pertained especially to those organizations which depended on public favor for their support and maintenance.

He said that the real civic force of any community was an organization of women. Women, he said, are the practical idealists of the world. Men are mostly bluff, and the real work of the country is done by the women collectively and individually.

At the present time the country is undergoing a reconstruction period, and every community is hit by financial embarrassment, and our own city is no exception. Mr. Dudley gave a resume of the history of Portsmouth from the time it was founded over a century ago to the present time. He said our city was confronted with the same problems that every other city was trying to work out, namely, the civic and social betterment of the community. This is a difficult problem to solve, because it is next to impossible to line up the people harmoniously. They are always pulling against each other and it is a big problem to get people interested in the welfare organizations here and elsewhere. Mr. Dudley said he was sorry to say that the citizens of Portsmouth were too ready to criticize people and organizations, that they knew nothing about. There is too much gossip going on and too many untruths peddled from one to another. Among other things, he suggested that the Woman's City Club might get interested in the Carnegie Library. With the backing of the club he said the library could become a great organization for the betterment of humanity and for the advancement of education in the city. He said the city of Portsmouth had never paid the library its just dues and had failed to keep faith with the contract entered into when the library was built. He urged the Woman's City Club to get busy and see that the library gets what is coming to it. He said the discontinuance of the Y. W. C. A. was a great blow to the city, and showed lack of cooperation on the part of the people to support welfare organizations. The Woman's club, the Men's Club, and the churches could be a powerful force for good if they would only work together. The speaker said it was very discouraging for a person to put his heart and soul in a work, and then have some indifferent person come along and tear down what he had accomplished. There seems to be a constant fire of mud-slinging going on among a certain class, and the thing we need just now is constructive sentiment to overcome the obstruction and destruction that is sweeping over the country. Mr. Dudley closed his talk by urging the ladies to put on a constructive program and do what they could to combat the other element which seems to be stirring up trouble all over the country at the present time.

Following a few remarks by Mrs. Schwartz, the members gave a rising vote of thanks to Mr. Dudley for his splendid talk, after which the meeting adjourned. The time and place of the February meeting will be announced later.

Pretty when she wakes up

Cleopatra's way

With a world of ancient beauty arts at her command, she depended on cleansing with Palm and Olive oils to protect, improve and preserve the freshness and smoothness of her skin.

This beautifying was not confined to face alone. The bath was a daily ceremonial with all ancient peoples, palm and olive oils the cleansers used.

Bathe with Palmolive and keep your skin smooth and white. It is a luxury all can afford.

This is the real test. The girl who wakes fresh and radiant, with a clear, smooth skin which has no defects to conceal, need not worry about her looks. She possesses the greatest of all attractions—the one which outshines all others.

This need not discourage the girl whose complexion is not so good. Proper care will soon transform a bad skin into one admired for its perfection.

Get rid of the clogging accumulations which cause coarseness and disfiguring defects and you will soon be complimented on your fresh blooming complexion.

The secret is simple and about 3,000 years old. It was discovered in ancient Egypt and practiced by Cleopatra.

Simple—Beautifying

The remedy for a coarse skin, for one disfigured with blackheads or ugly blotches, is daily cleansing with a lather blended from palm and olive oils.

Such a cleanser is so mild and soothing that it softens the skin and keeps it smooth. But it removes the accumulation of dirt, oil and perspiration which are responsible for most bad complexions.

You can't neglect your skin and expect to keep it blooming and alluring. The powder and rouge you use to conceal defects deceive no one.

The soothing cleanser

Palmolive is the modern combination of the same beautifying cosmetic oils Cleopatra used in the days of ancient Egypt. It is just as valuable today as a safe soothing cleanser.

Massage its smooth, creamy lather softly into the network of tiny pores which compose the surface of your skin. It will remove the clogging deposits which enlarge these pores, cause blackheads and invite blotches.

Dry skins are benefited by cold cream after cleansing. If unusual dryness is your trouble, apply a little cream before as well as after washing.

Popularity—Low price

Judge Palmolive by other soaps and you will expect to pay at least 25 cents a cake. But the popularity which keeps the Palmolive factories working day and night naturally reduces cost. Quantity production is always economical.

Thus this finest facial soap is offered at 10 cents a cake—a price all can afford. You can economically use Palmolive for every toilet purpose, for it costs no more than ordinary soap.

Excelsior Employees Poisoned By Candy; Are Better

THE VICTIMS

Miss Flora Higgins, Second Street.
Miss Gurnet Brooks, Second Street.
Miss Mary McGlothlin, Carey's Run.
Miss Dorothy Dodge, Robinson Avenue.
Miss Marcella Doll, Gay Street.
Miss Elizabeth Montavon, Pond Creek.

Six young women, employed in the timekeeping department of the Excelsior Shoe company and who were taken ill Monday afternoon shortly after eating some fudge purchased at a nearby confectionery Tuesday.

They were: Miss Flora Higgins, Miss Gurnet Brooks, of Second street, Miss Mary McGlothlin, of Carey's Run; Elizabeth Montavon, of Pond Creek; Miss Dorothy Dodge of Robinson avenue and Miss Marcella Doll of Gay street. For a time it was

Miss Clara Gengenbacher delighted to entertain members of the D. C. K. Club at her home on Second street last night. The evening was spent with games and music, while Miss Alberta Ward gave several dancing numbers. At a late hour, an appetizing buffet lunch was served.

Guests enjoying Miss Gengenbacher's hospitality were: Misses Margaret Prantz, Cecelia Goodman, Dorothy Butler, Margaret Vetter, Hilda Montavon, Elizabeth Orlett, Katherine Miller, Genevieve Thomas, Gertrude Kirig, Adelaide Orlett and Emma Gengenbacher.

Mr. William Yeager of Offshore street has returned from Illinois, where he was called by the death of Mrs. Yeager's sister, Mrs. J. Kerr. He also visited his sister, Mrs. J. Hume, of Waverly City, Iowa. Mrs. Yeager will return home the latter part of the week.

feared that some of the cases might be attended with fatal results. However, the victims responded to emetics administered by Dr. W. W. Smith, who was hurriedly called and they were soon pronounced out of danger.

Miss McGlothlin was removed to Hempstead hospital, in the Wheel ambulance and it was stated that she would be able to leave tonight for her home on Carey's Run.

Miss Doll and Miss Dodge were so much improved today that they were able to return to their work and it is thought the others will be back Wednesday or Thursday. Miss Montavon suffered considerably pain today, but she was declared out of danger. She is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. August Doll of 107 Gay street.

During the noon hour at the Excelsior Monday one of the girls purchased the fudge, which contained peanuts and coconut. It was coated with chocolate and within three hours after eating the candy the young women who are employed in the timekeeping department of the Excelsior began to show symptoms of being poisoned. They complained of severe pains and were seized with violent vomiting. When Dr. Smith arrived, he found Miss McGlothlin, Miss Higgins and Miss Brooks, suffering greatly.

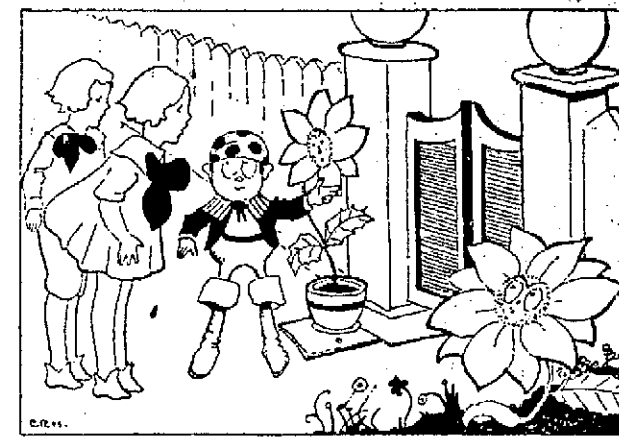

He realized at a glance that the young women had been poisoned and he administered emetics. These caused the victims to vomit for ten or fifteen minutes and after their stomachs had been freed of the poison they began to improve. While they suffered much pain for several hours they were soon declared out of danger. At Hempstead hospital last night it was stated the Miss McGlothlin was much better and would be able to return to her home this morning.

Dr. Smith called on the man in whose store the candy was purchased. He stated that he had handled the brand of fudge for some time and that it was made in Sandusky, Ohio. He said he never had any complaints about it and that his clerk ate some of it last Friday after opening a box, but she was not taken ill. The Excelsior girls ate candy from the same box and they were taken ill. The proprietor of the store says there was light and dark fudge in the box and possibly one caused the whole-sale poisoning while the other is all right.

Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Here we are now, at the gate of Mother Nature's school."

A QUEER thing happened when Bunkius and the Twins arrived in the strange new country above the clouds on their dandelion parachutes. The little dandelion parachutes (or seeds) suddenly became alive and Nancy and Ned saw that they had kind, bright faces, and arms and legs and feet.

"Will you please excuse us now," said the little seeds. "We are going to Mother Nature's school and we are afraid that we'll be late."

"Oh, yes, indeed," said Nancy politely. "Go right along. I'm sorry if we've kept you. And thank you for bringing us."

"That's all right," they answered, hurrying off. "We're going to visit your school," said Bunkius, "and if you are late, I'll tell Mother Nature all about it." They to the children, "I'll tell you more about this place as we go along. You see, Mother Nature has a school here for the little seeds that fly, so they'll know how to grow. Many of the seeds have wings, you know, or something just as good, that they can fly with like your parachutes. The dandelion seeds are only one kind."

"There are also the thistle-seeds, the milk-weed seeds, and the seeds of many kinds of trees and flowers. Some other seeds fly in a different way. They have jiggers on them and stick to the birds' wings and feathers. When the birds fly, the seeds hang on until they come to a place where they wish to grow, then they drop off."

"But here we are now, at the gate of Mother Nature's school. Come on, let us go in. I'm sure we are welcome. Mother Nature isn't easily disturbed and she'll be glad to see us."

Bunkius opened the gate and they all walked into a large garden where little seeds sat in rows and a beautiful fairy sat at a desk.

Anonymous Literature Is Barred

COLUMBUS, O., January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—A circulation of anonymous literature in an election campaign to injure the chances of a candidate was given a death blow by the state supreme court today when that tribunal upheld the conviction of former Mayor Carl M. Babst, of Crestline, on a charge of circulating anonymous literature against his opponent, Wendell Kersey, in the 1919 election. The common place court had indicted Babst under the corrupt practices act on a misdemeanor charge for the alleged offense and he was found guilty. The appellate court, however, reversed on the ground that the statute punishing penalties for circulating anonymous literature was unconstitutional in that it abridged the right of free speech. The supreme court decision today reversed the appellate court and affirmed the conviction of common place.

Two Lucasville Boys, With Only 40 Cents Start Out To See World; Nabbed At Waverly

The following from a Waverly paper is of special interest as the boys named are well known in Lucasville: Friday evening two youngsters arrived in Waverly and asked Officer Dowdle if they could sleep in the calaboose. He gave them permission but locked them in the cell. During the night he talked with the young fellows, and they told him their names were Earl Cogrove and Ben Beasley; that their homes were in Lucasville and that they were on their way to visit a brother-in-law of Cogrove's who resided at South Solon, Ohio, and whose name was W. B. Cox. They stated that they had left home about noon and said they had 40 cents in money between them.

Officer Dowdle decided that all was not right and on Saturday morning allowed the boys to remain locked in the cell until he called Lucasville. He talked with Mrs. Congrove, of that place, who asked him to detain the boys. About noon, "Jack" Beasley, father of the youthful Ben Beasley, arrived from Lucasville and the boys were turned over into his charge. Mr. Beasley is a contractor at Lucasville and stated that the boys were both of school age and had been going to school. He appreciated the effort of the Waverly official very much, saying that the service to him was "worth a thousand dollars." Both boys promised to attend school regularly hereafter.

President Signs Coinage Bill

The Grant Centenary Coinage Bill passed the Senate with two amendments. On last Thursday it was sent to the House where it was called up by Congressman Kearns and on his motion the Senate amendments were agreed to. The bill was immediately sent to the President for his signature and was signed by him Saturday, January 28th.

This bill was originally introduced in the House by Congressman Charles C. Kearns in July 1921. It passed the House in September, authorizing the minting of two hundred thousand gold one dollar pieces in commemoration of the hundredth anniversary of the birth of General U. S. Grant. It was held up in the Senate all this while because there was great opposition in both the House and Senate against the use of gold in the coining of gold dollars. It was thought that this much gold would be taken out of circulation, as these gold dollars would be used as souvenirs instead of money. So strong was the opposition in the Senate that it became apparent the bill could not pass in the form it went through the House, and Congressman Kearns appeared before the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency and agreed to a modification of the House bill. He agreed to accept an amendment that would provide for the coining of ten thousand and gold one dollar pieces and two hundred and fifty thousand silver half dollar pieces.

This was readily agreed to by the entire membership of the Senate Committee. Saturday Mr. Kearns took this matter up with the Director of Mints and it was agreed that these coins would be minted as soon as it was decided just what engraving should go on them. It has been suggested that a bust of Grant be on one side and that a facsimile of the log cabin should appear on the other side of both the gold and silver coins.

The Fine Arts Commission must pass upon these designs, but Director of Mints Baker agreed with Mr. Kearns to put upon the coins any design that would be agreed upon by him and the Ohio Delegation in Congress. However, he will ask the U. S. Grant Centenary Association to agree upon the designs.

These coins will be ready for distribution about the 20th of February and will be handled by any and all banks that care to handle them. The sale of these coins will be at a premium and the money will be used in the construction of a road from New Richmond to Point Pleasant and Grant Memorial in Georgetown and Bethel.

Mixed Marriages

Matrimony is one of the seven Sacraments instituted by Christ—a holy thing, a sacred contract, ended only by death. Being a Sacrament, the conditions under which it is administered to Catholics are laid down by the Catholic Church. All Catholics recognize the inalienable right of the Church to regulate the conditions of all the Sacraments. Matrimony included. No Catholic would go to a Justice of the Peace to go to Confession; no also in Catholic would go anywhere but to a Catholic priest to be married.

Catholics believe Catholics should marry Catholics. Protestants marry Protestants, and Jews marry Jews. The Catholic Church looks with disfavor upon the marriage of persons of different religions. There may at times be happiness in such marriages, but, alas, very many of them are unhappy and the faith of the children is imperiled.

F. W. Rickey To Work Out Of The Dry's Head Offices In Washington

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31. — An announcement of F. W. Rickey, of Portsmouth, Ohio, as a general prohibition agent attached to the Washington staff was announced today by Commissioner Hayes.

Mr. Rickey's legion of friends will be pleased to learn of his splendid appointment, but will regret that he will have to leave the city. It is understood that the salary of the office will be $3,500 a year, with expense. Mr. Rickey will operate in the cities under the jurisdiction of the dry forces in Washington. He is known as a fearless young officer and who is always on the job. He has been an invaluable assistant to Sheriff and it was his good work as a deputy that attracted the attention of dry officials in Washington. It is supposed his new work will carry him from Maine to the Eastern coast and he will be on the go all the time. Mr. Rickey said today: "When informed by The Times of his appointment Mr. Rickey said he thought he was in line for the job, but did not think his appointment would come so soon. He will take up his new work at once."

He is 33 years old, married, and with his family resides at 1718 Baird avenue. Mr. Rickey is a likeable, jovial young man, conscientious in the performance of any duty and his friends say he will be heard from when he rolls up his sleeves and starts to work out of the Washington office of the prohibition leaders.

Pimples, blackheads and boils—fresh yeast rids you of them

It is well known that pimples and blackheads (acne) and boils are often caused by errors of diet.

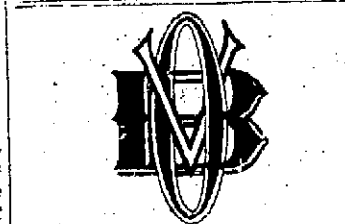

Fleischmann's Yeast is now being recommended for these embarrassing and painful skin troubles because fresh yeast corrects the errors of diet which cause them.

This surgeon of one important New York hospital states: "I have used yeast extensively and found it invaluable in curing boils." When 17 cases of pimples were treated with Fleischmann's Yeast at hospitals in New York and Philadelphia the results were remarkable. A typical case was a young man who had suffered from pimples for three years. He ate three cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast daily. In five weeks the eruption had cleared completely.

If you are troubled with pimples or boils, begin at once to correct them by eating 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's fresh yeast daily before or between meals. Buy only the Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer for Fleischmann's Yeast.

Mutual Settlement Of Shantung Question And Naval Limitation Brings Arms Meet Near A Close

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 31. (By the Associated Press)—Virtual settlement by the Japanese and Chinese of the long-debated Shantung question and final agreement on the text of the five-power naval limitation treaty have brought the Washington conference very near to the conclusion of its labors today with some of the delegates expecting to be on their homeward journey possibly by the end of the week.

Near Completion
Prediction that the last details of the plan for restoration to China of Shantung province would be settled at today's meeting was made by Dr. Koo, of the Chinese delegation, following an agreement reached last night between the Japanese and Chinese covering all principles required as a basis for disposal of the Tsingtao-Tsinanfu railroad question. The basis of settlement is understood to have been the compromise plan supported by President Harding.

Finishing Up Naval Agreement
Meanwhile, the naval committee of the whole was meeting today to give final approval to the text of the naval treaty as completed yesterday by agreement in the naval committee of fifteen on the Pacific fortifications article. The treaty tomorrow will be announced to the world at a plenary session of the conference.

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Any lady of gentleman can darken their gray or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and 1 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy, and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."

then a nebulous wish to pay some sort of a tribute to the man who was shortly to leave the White House. There was no doubt in their minds as to the verdict of history; rather the thought was to establish a precedent, if possible, and honor a great American while he lived.

The thought of a tribute of some sort was discussed among the women and then presented to a group of men, friends of Mr. Wilson and former members of his official family. Finally, within two weeks after Mr. Wilson had become a private citizen, there was a great winter's day meeting at a New York hotel where the wish became a fact, where the nebulous desire to honor him while he lived became the very real plan to create the Woodrow Wilson Foundation.

The materialized idea has been developed far beyond the thought of a tribute to the former President. It is to be that, of course, but chiefly it is to perpetuate his ideals of democracy and human freedom, and in such form as to be both an inspiration and a reward to other men whose ambition it is to "enable the world to live more amply, with greater vision, with a finer spirit of hope and achievement."

The Foundation is to be, in words now widely familiar:

"Created in recognition of the national and international services of Woodrow Wilson, twice President of the United States, who furthered the cause of human freedom and was instrumental in pointing out effective methods for the co-operation of the liberal forces of mankind throughout the world."

"The Award or Awards from the income of the Foundation, will be made from time to time by a nationally constituted committee, to the individual or group that has rendered within a specific period, meritorious service to democracy, public welfare, liberal thought or peace through justice."

In brief, America is to have its own Nobel Prizes.

Where The Awards Will Come From

Conceived on a propitious day, the movement to establish the Woodrow Wilson Foundation has become nation-wide in the months that have passed since Christmas, 1920. A national organization has been created, with representation in every state to raise the permanent endowment that is to make possible America's awards for distinguished public service.

The method of raising the endowment will not be the familiar "drive" of war time; the appeal which was issued beginning January 10, 1922, was framed rather in the spirit of a free-will offering. Drive methods will not be necessary, it is believed, to rally Americans to the support of an American institution, created in honor of a great American, dedicated to the perpetuation of American ideals. The organization has been developed on a national scale simply to present to as many people as possible the opportunity to share in the founding of an institution that will play a significant part in the world's progress toward a higher civilization.

The goal is one million dollars or more. One million dollars represent a gift of one cent from each inhabitant of the United States.

ment of the United States, an endorsement so widely subscribed is the ideal at least toward which the energies of the Foundation organization are directed. Woodrow Wilson was the spokesman for the liberal thought of the world, but for America particularly. His ideals are American ideals. His principles of democracy and human freedom are the principles upon which the republic is founded. It seems fitting that this undertaking should be created by the free-will offering of a very large proportion of the inhabitants of the United States. A Foundation so created is the objective.

The founding of an institution which is to be a significant demonstration of America's belief in idealism is an historical occasion, and to be commemorated as such. Those who organized the Woodrow Memorial Foundation, desire that it shall be always non-partisan and non-political. The appeal for contributions and subscriptions, therefore, is made not merely to members of President Wilson's party, but to men and women everywhere of all political allegiances, who believe in the ideals and principles for which President Wilson stood during the eight years of his administration. On the National committee of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation there are distinguished Republicans, both men and women.

An emblem has been adopted which will permanently represent the spirit of the Foundation. The central feature of the emblem is a portrait of Woodrow Wilson.

A number of reproductions of this emblem have been struck off in the form of certificates to be presented to subscribers to the endowment. They will mark the recipient as one of the founders, and they will be treasured for their artistic value as well as their historical significance.

DEFENSE PRESENTING TESTIMONY IN DOUBLE MURDER CASE

Effort Made To Show Mental Irresponsibility Of Curtis M. Witherow

The state rested early Tuesday morning in the trial of Curtis M. Witherow, charged with first degree murder for the killing of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Nichols at the Fred Burhoe home at Seabrook, on New Year's night. The defense then started on its line in the way of introducing testimony in an effort to break down the strong chain of incriminating circumstances linked up by the state to support its contention that the real and only motive for the slaying of Hugh Nichols was jealousy on the part of the accused. The defense bent its efforts chiefly in an attempt to show that Witherow was mentally incapacitated and entirely irresponsible for his acts and that insanity was a family tendency.

Interest in the trial was equally as great as yesterday, and the courtroom was packed again today with spectators, while hundreds were unable to gain admission.

The prisoner maintained the same demeanor in court today as he did through the session Monday as he sat with head down and took up notice of the proceedings or the persons about him.

Seven witnesses were called to the stand by the state yesterday afternoon and they testified of the events in connection with the tragedy from the time it occurred until Witherow's capture at Chillicothe on the following night and his subsequent confessions to various officers. Most damaging to the defendant was the evidence given by Misses Irene McKee, 16, South Point, and Ada Murphy, 17, Barnabus, W. Va., sister of Mrs. Nichols, both of whom were guests at the Burhoe home on the night of the shooting.

Monday Afternoon's Session

Dr. J. D. Hendrickson, Scioto county coroner, was the first witness called by the state. He testified of examining the body of Nichols at the post mortem. He stated that he found a bullet hole in the breast opposite the fourth rib, the shot causing internal hemorrhage resulting in instant death.

Deputy Swope Testifies

He was followed on the stand by Henry Swope, deputy sheriff of Ross county, one of the officers who arrested Witherow in the caboose of a train near Chillicothe on the night of January 2. The witness testified that he placed Witherow under arrest about 9:40, finding him curled up on a seat. Mr. Swope testified that he asked the man his name and when he replied he asked the defendant his first name. He said that the accused then acknowledged that he was the man the officers were looking for.

Witherow's first and partial confession came the next morning in the Ross county jail, the witness testified, in the presence of Sheriff Immel and deputies Crego and Swope.

Of Ross county, Sheriff Ricker of Scioto county, and two newspaper reporters. The witness related the story of the crime as unfolded by the accused. Swope said that Witherow told them that he had been over to the Burhoe home during the evening of January 1, leaving at 9:30 so as to get ready to go to his work. According to the testimony of the witness, Witherow told them that he had been in the kitchen with Nichols eating and that they were on the best of terms. He said that Witherow told them that after he reached

18 Veniremen Called; 12 Accepted

The impaneling of the jury in the Witherow case in Common Pleas court Monday, without either side exercising a single peremptory challenge, shatters all records in Scioto county, if not in the entire state.

Only half of the thirty-three special veniremen were called for questioning, touching their qualifications, and of these, five were excused, for cause and one was excused on account of physical disability, leaving twelve who were passed temporarily and then finally accepted by both sides to pass on the fate of the accused.

This remarkable incident in connection with the trial was made the subject of comment by Judge Thomas from the bench late yesterday afternoon when he adjourned court a half hour sooner than usual because of the unusual record. The court said that in all of his experience it had never come under his observation or hearing of a first degree murder jury being selected in such a short space of time and without either side exercising a single peremptory challenge.

A few moments later, according to the girl's testimony, Witherow came to the Burhoe home, kicked and pounded loudly on the door and demanded to see Hugh Nichols. A conversation similar to the following took place, according to the testimony of Miss McKee:

"I want to see Hugh," demanded Witherow.

"He's in bed," was the reply. "Tell him I must see him," said Witherow.

Nichols got up out of bed and pulled on his trousers and started to the door.

"You ain't at all, are you, you, you," the asked on his way to the door. "No," was the brief reply, credited to the accused.

"You want all the women, don't you, Hugh?" Witherow is said to have asked as Nichols opened the door.

"No, Curly, I don't," was Hugh Nichols' reported rejoinder.

"I know you do," said Witherow with an oath and a shot rang out, Nichols falling to the porch, killed instantly by a bullet through his breast.

Girl Obtains Gun

After the double killing, the witness said that the accused told him he entered the house and stayed around for some time, until Mrs. Burhoe induced him to go home and later to make his escape. The two young girls, Ada Murphy and Irene McKee, who were staying at the Burhoe home, left the house, it developed

Sheriff Immel Takes Stand

The next witness was Alfred Immel, sheriff of Ross county, who testified that Witherow was the man arrested near Chillicothe on the night of January 2. He told of Witherow's voluntary confession at the county jail the next morning in the presence of himself, deputies, Sheriff Ricker and newspaper reporters. His testimony as to the prisoner's mental condition appeared to be all right although he was nervous over having killed the couple.

Mrs. Nichols Also Shot

Mrs. Nichols then came running to the door and seeing her husband on the floor exclaimed "My God, he's killed Hugh." At this point, the witness testified, the pistol cracked again and Mrs. Nichols staggered back into the room and fell over the bed. Miss McKee testified that after the second shot she and Mrs. Murphy ran out of the house by the back door and went to the back of the smoke house where they stayed until called.

Miss McKee then related a story of alleged relations between Mrs. Burhoe and Witherow, claiming that they hugged and kissed each other and that while she was there Mrs. Burhoe came and sat down on the arms of a chair in which Witherow was sitting.

She said that after the shooting while Curly was in the house that he was behind the stove, praying and saying that he was sorry that he had killed Mr. and Mrs. Nichols.

The next witness for the state called during the afternoon was Ada Murphy, 17, who claimed Barnabus, W. Va., as her residence. She is a sister of Mrs. Hugh Nichols who was killed by Witherow. She stated that she had known the prisoner for about six months, having met him while visiting at the Burhoe home. She described Witherow's visits to the Burhoe home on the day of the shooting. She said that he was there in the morning with his brother-in-law and that he was there in the evening. Her account of the incidents leading up to the shooting coincided closely with that of the McKee girl except that she said they fled from the house after the first shot was fired and that she only returned her sister, Mrs. Nichols, called her back. She corroborated the story of Miss McKee getting the gun from Witherow on a promise to tell that Mrs. Nichols did the shooting. She also related that she had seen Witherow and Mrs. Burhoe hugging and kissing each other numerous times.

The state then turned its attention calling two of its "star" witnesses, Irene McKee and Ada Murphy, two young girls who were at the Burhoe home at the time of the shooting.

Irene McKee, aged 16, of South Point, on the witness stand, said that she was not well acquainted with Witherow, whom she had met but twice. She said that she had made two visits to the Burhoe and Witherow homes east of Seabrook, having come there with Mr. and Mrs. Nichols and Ada Murphy. She said that Mr. and Mrs. Burhoe and Mr. and Mrs. Nichols, Ada Murphy and herself, were at the house at the time the shooting occurred.

Witherow Came To Home

The young girl testified that Witherow and his brother in law, Ernest Surbaugh, were at the Burhoe home about nine o'clock in the morning on Sunday, January 1, but that "Curly" as she called him, returned to his home shortly after, while Surbaugh, who she said was under the influence of liquor, laid down on a bed in the front room and went to sleep. She said that Witherow came to the Burhoe home again about eight o'clock at night and remained until about 9:30. Shortly after those at the Burhoe home retired Mrs. Witherow returned and said that Curt wanted Leona (Mrs. Nichols) to come and accompany Surbaugh to work at Wheelers Mills. This Mrs. Nichols refused to do and Mrs. Witherow returned to her home and told her husband about it.

about finding Nichols on the porch dead when called that night. He described the gunshot wound and stated that it no doubt caused almost instant death.

No Challenges Exercised

At this point Judge Thomas remarked on the fact that 12 persons out of 17 called qualified as jurors and that neither the state nor the defense exercised a single peremptory challenge. He said that it was the first time in his long experience as a juror that he had never known it to happen. He did not keep the jurors together for the night but after delivering his admonitions told them they were free to go to report again at nine o'clock this morning.

Beginning this morning the state will finish calling its witnesses and then will come the many witnesses for the defense, tending to establish the fact that Witherow was mentally irresponsible at the time of the shooting. Following that will come the arguments of counsel and the judge's charge to the jury. The examining of witnesses will probably not be completed before Wednesday and the case may go to the jury Wednesday afternoon.

Prosecuting Attorney Sheppard and Attorneys Blair and Blair are handling the case for the state while Attorneys T. F. Kimble and T. C. Beatty represent the defense.

Tuesday Morning Session

Deputy Sheriff Frank Hickey was the first witness called by the state when court convened Tuesday morning. He related in detail Witherow's confession made to him at the county jail following his arrival here from Chillicothe. He said that the prisoner declared he did not know why he shot Nichols but that he shot Mrs. Nichols because he expected her to start firing on him when she opened the door.

Police Chief Joe Distel produced in court the revolver which was secured at the Burhoe home following the shooting and which Irene McKee identified as the gun which Witherow handed to her after firing the fatal shots. It is a .38 caliber special and it was admitted as evidence after the state had traced the possession of the weapon from the time of the shooting up until the present.

Robert Nichols, 16, son of Hugh Nichols, stated that he was staying at the Witherow home and had gone to bed on the night of the shooting but before he fell asleep heard Witherow cursing. Following the shooting he said Witherow returned to his own home and told him that Leona had found some foul play with Hugh and that they had shot each other.

Just before the state rested there was a conference between the attorneys and the court which resulted in the announcement that the defense admitted that Witherow shot and killed Hugh Nichols on or about the time alleged in the indictment. The statement was then read to the jury by the official stenographer.

Mrs. Mattie Witherow of Huntington, mother of the prisoner, was the first witness called by the defense. She stated that her son will be 35 years old on March 11 next and that he was born at Green Sulphur Springs, W. Va. She said the father died when Curtis was about 15 years old and that the latter had worked at various times for the C. & O. railway company as telegrapher and station agent since he was 19 years old. During her recital she was permitted to tell of the strange actions, unusual disposition and habits reflecting on her son's mental condition dating back to his boyhood. She related of observing extraordinary behavior in her son's conduct and pointed to one occasion when he appeared gun in hand and threatened to kill himself. The witness declared that Curtis was subject to gloomy spells for a greater part of his life and would often break down and cry, act peculiar and was different from her other children.

After considerable wrangling the witness was allowed to relate the lineage of the family history with reference to the natural tendency to insanity. After the court ruled that the witness could only testify about that which came within the scope of her personal knowledge Attorney Kimble asked for the appointment of a commission to take the depositions of persons having knowledge of the fact sought to be shown but his request was denied by the court who reminded the counsel for the defense they had been given three weeks to prepare their case. Mrs. Witherow in telling of the family history told of a number of close blood relatives having died from violent deaths, including as far as she was permitted that they were insane.

On cross examination the mother admitted that her son had been in court before, once for shooting a man named Sam Kincaid in Summers county, W. Va., in 1908.

Mrs. Myrtle Gwynn, Hinton, W. Va., sister of the accused, said her brother always acted strange and peculiar and that his mental condition was not good. Her testimony did not differ materially from that given by the mother, being along the same lines as to the conduct of the brother and the tendency of insanity in the family.

It was indicated this afternoon that the defense will not be finishing the taking of testimony until Wednesday morning when a number of physicians will be called to give expert evidence on the mental condition of the accused. If the medical testimony is not too long drawn out the arguments will probably start at the afternoon session.

Mrs. Burhoe On Stand

Mrs. Fred Burhoe, principal witness for the defense, was placed on the stand at 2:30 this afternoon. She testified that Witherow had been acting strangely for some time. She said that one day Witherow placed a gun to his head and said he would kill himself, but the gun was knocked out of his hand. The witness said that Witherow frequently sat around and cried and when asked why he was crying, he would make no reply. Mrs. Burhoe says that Witherow was at her home twice on the day Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Nichols were killed, and that he played the Victrola and danced. You can't fool the youngsters. They can always tell the difference between KELLOGG'S and imitations.

Kellogg's Corn Flakes snap up fussy appetites something wonderful!

No coaxing needed to tempt family folks and visitor folks to eat a plenty—not when there's a big pitcher of milk or cream and lots of Kellogg's Corn Flakes—and, maybe some fruit—ready to tickle fickle palates!

Kellogg's are unlike any corn flakes you ever ate! They're the original kind—they ought to be best! No other corn flakes are so deliciously flavored; no other corn flakes retain such wonder-crispness till eaten! And Kellogg's are never leathery or tough or hard to eat!

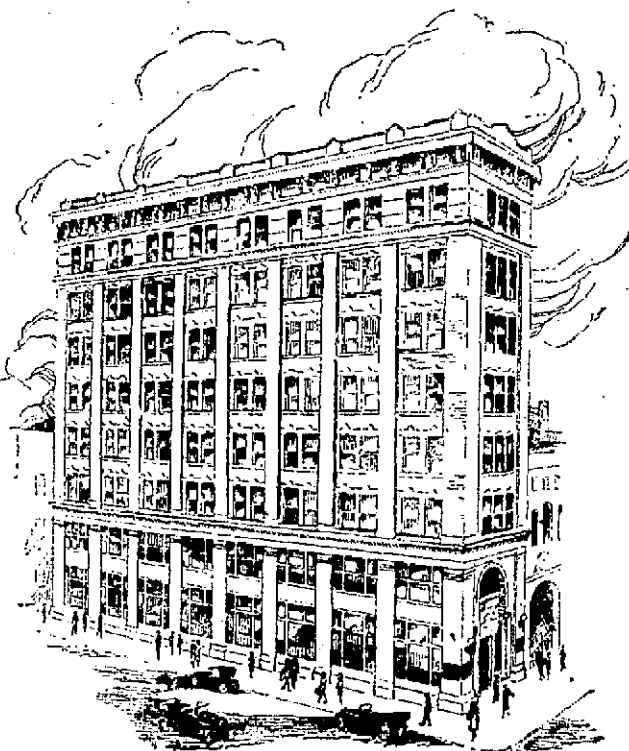

Kellogg's are always a delight to serve—and a treat to eat at any meal! In fact, you'll never know how good corn flakes can be until you know KELLOGG'S!

Do more than ask for corn flakes—say KELLOGG'S CORN FLAKES! The kind in the RED and GREEN packages!

Coach Resigns; Has New Job

OBERLIN, Ohio, January 31.—T. Nelson Metcalf, Oberlin's football and track coach, has resigned to become professor of physical education at the University of Minnesota. It was announced today by Director of Athletics Charles W. Savage. Metcalf may also become Minnesota's track coach, it was said. Metcalf is a graduate of Oberlin, where as football player and trackman he won numerous letters.

Today's Sport Angle

Directors of athletics in colleges throughout the country are taking some hot shots at professionalism in sport.

First came Knute Rockne, the famous Notre Dame coach. Through the intrigues of professional football promoters, Rockne lost three of his star players.

After the close of the football season, a western promoter, anxious to win a big game on which much money was wagered, induced three Notre Dame stars to play under assumed names.

The affair became known, the players confessed and were expelled from athletics. Rockne, however, had lost three of his stars and didn't like it. He came out with a statement in which he characterized professionalism as the biggest menace of college sports.

Later Coach Yost of Michigan faced the same feature, also the transforming idea which has grown so much of late.

Perhaps Yost's feelings in the matter were influenced by the actions of Ernie Vick, his All-American center. Vick is as big a star on the diamond as the gridiron. He was expected to be of much strength to the baseball team this spring.

A news item says Vick has signed with the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League, has quit his studies in the medical school and intends to go on the spring training trip.

Branch Ricker, who signed George Sisker after he had finished his course at Michigan, no doubt induced Vick to reach his decision.

DERBY DAY

LOUISVILLE — The forty-eighth Kentucky derby will be run at Churchill Downs, Saturday, May 13, it was announced.

Dempsey In Fine Shape

According to Harry Williams, sporting editor of the Los Angeles Times and a very reliable chronicler of what happens out that way, Jack Dempsey is taking mighty fine care of himself. Dempsey is through with his theatrical work and is now resting in the California city for a month or so. According to Williams, Dempsey does not hit the scales at more than 150 pounds, and as he weighed but 133 pounds when he fought Willard, certainly he can't be in such horrible condition as some folks would have us believe.

I HEAR THAT

McGraw says he will have the poem cinched by July 1. This is settled.

Battling Chink says he will win in six rounds tomorrow night. We shall see.

Nig Blair says he is willing to meet all comers weighing less than 144. Who is next?

Kid Fox will show a real fox trot when he enters the ring tomorrow night.

Arrangements are complete for a record crowd at the boxing show in the Sun tomorrow night. Sure, we will be there with lard in our hair.

Huntington will send down 100 fans. They will see a real boxing show.

Hughie Rudity will be the third man in the ring and the basest.

Kenard On Job

Len Kenard has taken up his work as motor cop and along with Stanley Schroeder will look after traffic violations. Kenard was only recently appointed to the force.

BATTLING CHINK

BATTLING CHINK
Cincinnati's best bet in the flyweight class, who will meet Jimmie Blankenship of Huntington in the ten round main bout at the Battery B boxing show next Wednesday night.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, January 31.—Manhattan's "first night" brings a curious crowd to the back rail of the darkened theatre. Too nervous to occupy chairs, they stand tense suggesting the spirit of the Roman gladiators cry: "We who are Forty Niners."

Writers of lyrics and songs, costume designers, fashioners, heavy sugar, waiting the verdict of the Death Watch to know if it is a "get over" or a "drop." Every play has its own "Forty Niners" who may have just a single line, or verse or a situation.

They come hoping this single bit will send them hurrying to tending fame and illuminate the ash cans with their names. It so happens that now and then a Forty Niner strikes a golden nugget and that is why they emulate the spirit of the gambler for one last flip of the card.

The producers are always present among the first night hand picked audience and the Forty Niners tell them in advance what bit they have contributed. "If it creates any applause they are 'crashing the gate' next day at all theatrical offices begging for the chance to do something big."

Two years ago a Forty Niner suggested a phantasmagoric dance number which flashed for a few minutes between two big scenes in a revue. In the parlance of the theatre it "ran away with the show" and this year he was given the task of writing a complete revue which is a success.

So it is that each premiere may be the oyster to produce the pearl. And while the Forty Niners wait they live in cheerless boarding houses within walking distance of the Rialto. They carry canes, wear velvet hats and give a sartorial opulence to genteel poverty.

Each is a supreme optimist. "The seasons come and go leaving them just a trifle more worn and yellow. At night they gather about the tables at Freeman's theatrical canteen and build castles as rosy as the dawn but always greets them."

Miss Peggy Hoyt is known in society as New York's best dressed woman. She is herself a society girl who stepped from the dazzling butterfly life of the delinquent into the marts of trade, and losing thereby none of her social prestige. She condescends to her social position in a magnificent private dwelling a few steps from the avenue.

Nothing is on display and customers are received in the same manner as guests. It is Miss Hoyt who designs the dazzling gowns and hats for the nimble footed Irene Castle, and she also fashions the costumes for members of society who are to be presented at European courts.

She is a slender, girlish brunette in her early twenties. Her husband is A. L. Fads, who acts as her general manager. He is a member of an aristocratic St. Louis family.

It isn't the White Way any more. It is becoming colored. There are more light bulbs but not the white dazzers. Blue and gold, red and green are the colors in the latest big electric sign and there is a new clock in mauve and thick purple and over a baroque house there is a live and shrieking, screaming magnolia sign.

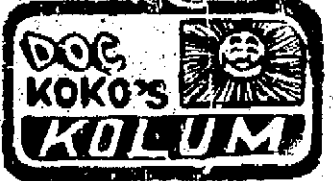

When Harry Lander arrives in America he is the victim of the merciless quinquers nightly at the Lamb. They love Lander but they also love to flag him with their sarcasm. One of the latest at Lander's expense was pulled by Willie Collier who asked Lander if it was true that he was going to leave his fortune to the "Unknown Soldiers' widow?"

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED

You will dress, for the street, so as to pass unobserved—in a manner not to attract attention.

You will, when hostess, dress somewhat more simply than your guests are likely to.

You will, if a Miss, wear little jewelry to a ball.

Enduring Things

(By Bertin Braley)

Grim war, throughout the ages, Has racked the world of men; It stalks through history's pages Again, and yet again; But after each disaster When fire and slaughter cease, The world's unconquered master Is Peace!

Wrong triumphs for a season, For centuries, perchance; With might beyond all reason It blocks the world's advance; Yet shall its strength diminish And weaker grow its blight, The winter—at the finish, Is Right!

Hate tasks of life a burning And devastating war; Yet somehow we're discerning The thing we struggle for. The vision fine and splendid, The dream all dreams above; The victor, when all's ended Is Love!

Ambitious "You have been very successful in politics," said the admiring friend. "I don't know," said Senator Sorensen doubtfully. "I have participated prominently in legislatures and conventions. But I am still waiting for somebody to make me a large offer to go into the movies."

The Substitute "What do they sell in that garage besides gasoline, father?" inquired a small boy, as his father's car crawled along painfully.

"Besides," my boy? You mean "instead of," was his parent's disgusted reply, as he tried to get more speed out of his car.

Some Mix-Up "Last year I asked 'her' to be my wife and she gave me a decidedly negative reply, so to get even I married her mother. Then my father married the girl."

When I married the girl's mother, the girl became my daughter and my father married my daughter, so he is my son. When my father married my daughter she became my mother. If my father is my son and my daughter is my mother, who am I? My mother's mother is my wife and must be my grandmother and being my grandmother's husband, I must be my own grandfather.

Another Labor Crisis A colored man applied to a sawmill manager for work. "All right," said the manager, "come around in the morning and I'll put you to work and pay you what you are worth."

"No, sir; I can't do that," replied the colored man. "I've gotta' no' dan dat now."

The Whole Truth Teacher Fisher had been giving the class a little talk on honest methods at all times.

"Children," said the teacher, "be diligent and steadfast, and you will succeed. Take the case of George Washington, for instance, whose birthday we always celebrate. Do you remember my telling you of the great difficulty George Washington had to contend with?"

"Yes, sir," said one little fellow promptly. "He couldn't tell a lie."

Easy Explanation "I say, Stalker," he said, "you remember you told me you had hunted tigers in West Africa? Well, Captain Smith tells me there are no tigers there."

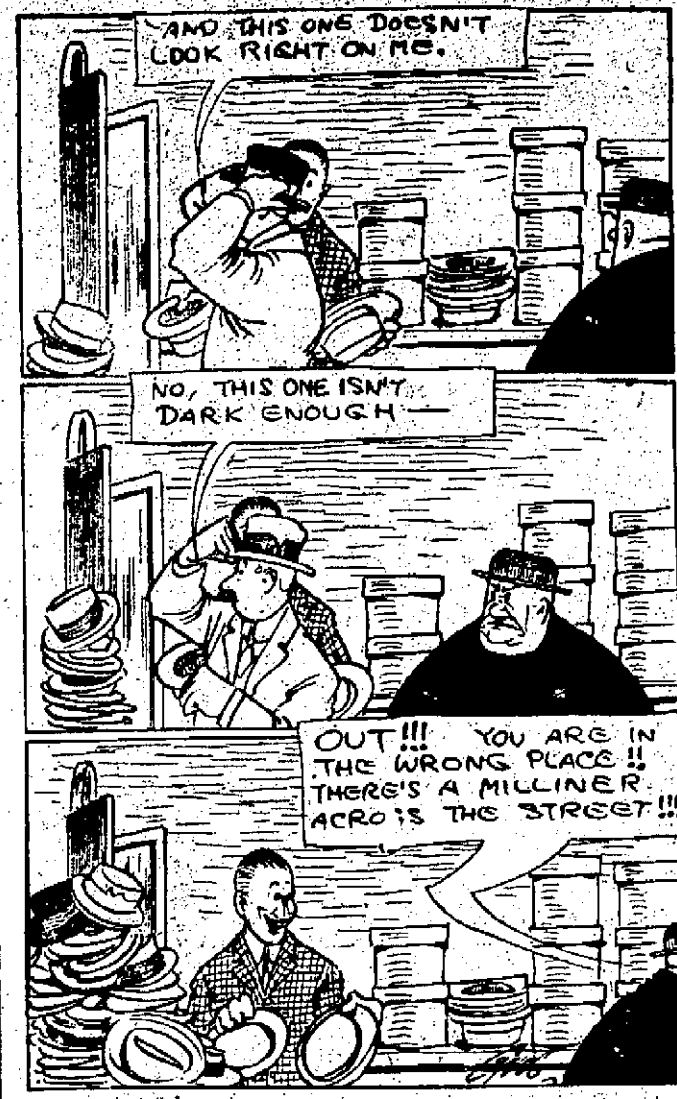

"Quite right, quite right," said Stalker, blandly. "I killed them all."

Not His Object "Kind lady (to a small boy who has been taken out of the water): 'Dear me! How did you come to fall in?'"

"Small boy: 'I didn't come to fall in. I came to fish.'" place on the calendar of the business, is one in which he is vitally interested and Mr. Kenyon said he hoped to cast a vote on that measure before finally abandoning his seat in the senate.

Should precedents establish that he has not the right, Mr. Kenyon added that he thought he had been on the senate floor this morning "for the last time as a senator."

The president has known since our service together in the senate that political life did not appeal to me and that my ambition was to serve on the federal bench. The senator said in his statement. "When a vacancy occurred last fall in the federal judgeship in my state some of my friends suggested my name to him and he indicated his willingness to appoint me. The legislative situation was such that it seemed to me I could not accept. The situation is somewhat different now, as the West Virginia investigation is out of the way; likewise the Newberry case and a large portion of the agricultural program has been put through."

Senator Kenyon entered the senate in 1911 and is chairman of the agricultural bloc.

The salary of a circuit judge is $8,500 and that of a United States senator $7,500.

Senator Kenyon, whose home is at Fort Dodge, was born at Elyria, Ohio, June 10, 1869.

Son Of Billy Sunday Named As John Marcus Wins Divorce

The Cincinnati Enquirer Tuesday said: That his wife, Mary Alexander Marcus, and a son of Billy Sunday, noted evangelist, were ejected from a leading Cincinnati hotel last night in a room there were found Sunday's son, John Marcus, 334 East Fourth street, in his suit for divorce, before Judge Charles W. Hoffman yesterday. Marcus said they were married at Erie, Pa., November 15, 1915, but that she associated with other men and she was found in the hotel here with young Sunday and they were ordered to leave. He also presented a letter, which he said she received from one W. S. McGill, New York City, asking her to go there, and stated last August she wired him from San Francisco, Cal., seeking a reconciliation, asserting that if he refused she would go to New York to the other man. He said he refused to consider a reconciliation and last heard of his wife at the Vanderbilt Hotel, New York City.

A divorce was granted to Marcus on the ground of neglect.

GROCER IS BANKRUPT

Bible listed debts of $7,375 and assets as $2,890. A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in federal court here today by John C. Steman, farmer of Van Wert county. Liabilities were listed at $13,402 and assets as $90,000.

Dismisses Indictments CLEVELAND.—Judge Wostenhaver dismissed indictments charging officers and employees of the Elbert Brewing Co. and the Cleveland Brewing Co. with conspiracy to violate the Volstead law.

Start Probe

(Continued from Page One) 62 remained in hospitals today, with a dozen reported in critical condition. E. H. Shinghnessy, second assistant postmaster general, also included among these, was said to be still showing improvement today.

In addition to an exhaustive investigation of the disaster being pressed by the District of Columbia commissioners, the federal grand jury, which visited the scene of the catastrophe yesterday as the step in its investigation, was ready today to call the first witnesses in its effort to fix the blame. The coroner's jury, also investigating the cause of the deaths had requested the war department today to assign army engineers to make a study of the structure of the motion picture theatre, which was wrecked Saturday night when its snow-laden roof caved in on hundreds in the audience below.

Blame Defective Material Colonel Charles Keller, engineer commissioner of the district, held the opinion today, after a personal survey of the wreckage, that the collapse of the roof was caused by a defect in material and not by a fault of design. Building Commissioner Healy also believed that plans for the roof were practical and sound. He said it was of the true type of construction and a standard design used to cover a large expanse of interior where it is desired to avoid the use of girders and columns as supports.

No Unidentified Bodies Reductions in the death list which the police early today believed would be final resulted from the tentative elimination of eight names for which the police have been unable to find any addresses. There are, moreover, no unidentified bodies which might account for these and a careful check of hospitals and undertaking establishments had failed to establish any victims of these names. They are D. N. Walsh, Miss M. E. Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Maine, Albert Baker, Paulus Landry, W. M. Crawford, and F. L. Hall. In addition to these, Miss Gertrude Taylor, of Washington, was found to have been reported dead by error, and Ernesto Natiello, who was killed, was found to have been listed again as Ernest Martello. These eliminations would reduce the total to 55.
